FRANCE TO EVADE MILITARY ACTION

Flandin Demands League's Action Against Invasion

Economic, Financial Sanctions Against Hitler Government Sought as Locarno Treaty Signers Gather to Discuss Crisis

By United Press
The situation in Europe today:
PARIS—France and Britain divided over strong demands on Hitler which France insists powers enforce.
BERLIN—Germany marked time while awaiting diplomatic reaction of Europe to its Rhineland reoccupation.
Along the Franco-German frontier—French troops swarmed into border forts while German Rhineland garrison returned to pre-World war strength.
LONDON—Britain took mediatory course, condemning Germany but seeking to avert French demands for stringent retaliatory measures.
GENEVA—League of Nations officials expressed belief that any effort to invoke penalties against Germany must fail.
ROME—Italy, sought as close ally by France, awaited diplomatic benefits which would aid her Ethiopian campaign.

PARIS, March 10—(UP)—France assured Great Britain today that she does not intend to go to war against Germany.
The declaration immeasurably relieved the tension which prevailed when the signatories of the Locarno treaty gathered here to discuss their answer to Germany's rearmament of the Rhineland. France and Britain could not agree on joint action and will make no decision until after the league council meets at Geneva this week.
Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, telephoned the results of today's conference to Premier Stanley Baldwin in London.
Eden said Foreign Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin of France insisted on economic and financial sanctions against Germany but did not ask for military sanctions.
Not Headed for Conflict
Flandin was understood to have assured Eden that French policy is 100 per cent pacific and is not intended to lead to conflict.
The British, French, Belgian and Italian delegates held a private meeting late this afternoon in another effort to agree on a common attitude before entraining for Geneva.
Foreign Minister Flandin, voicing France's anger and alarm at Germany's violation of the Versailles and Locarno treaties, presented to the delegates of Great Britain, Italy and Belgium this four point program:
1—A virtual ultimatum to Adolf Hitler, in the name of the Locarno powers, insisting on the withdrawal of his troops.
2—Agreement by the Locarno powers to enter into no negotiations of any kind with Germany so long as the troops remained.
3—If the troops are withdrawn, the powers could proceed under article VIII of the Locarno treaty which provides that the league council can denounce the Locarno treaty with the consent of all powers. By this Hitler might obtain legal right to put his troops in the zone.
Penalties Possible
4—If Hitler refuses to withdraw the troops, the Locarno powers would ask, as a unit, that the league council impose penalties on Germany, the first to be the withdrawal of ambassadors and other diplomatic representatives, as a gesture of disapproval of Hitler's action.
Flandin convened the meeting in the great salon of the foreign office adjoining his office.
Chief delegates were: France, Flandin and Joseph Paul-Boncour, minister of state; Great Britain, Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, and Viscount Halifax, lord privy seal; Belgium, Premier-Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland; Italy, Ambassador Vittorio Cerruti.

PAVING STARTS IN 'DOWNTOWN'

200 on Project; Court on Mound to Franklin Closed

WPA workers on the Court-at project were poured into the downtown district Tuesday morning, and are preparing the street for paving between Mound and Main-sts. Officials reported about 200 men are now on the project.
Bricks and sand had previously been cleared from the block between Mound and Franklin-sts and workers are repairing the base. Old bricks were being torn out and hauled away on the second block.
If weather permits, paving will be started Wednesday morning.
Employees on the canal recreation project and the Thompson-rd project have been assigned to the Court-at work. The road project is completed and the canal work temporarily suspended. Approximately 60 men were on these two projects.

AUTO TAGS MAY BE USED WEDNESDAY; SALE IS SLOW

Although Wednesday is the first day for the use of new license plates only 500 have been issued by George E. Hammel, deputy registrar, and his assistants.
Last year approximately 4,000 were issued and the office expects a grand rush before the final day for using 1935 tags, March 31.
Mr. Hammel urged car owners to purchase their tags as soon as possible.

Eyes of World Focused on Leaders as Rhine is Remilitarized

Premier Benito Mussolini

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler

General von Blomberg

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden

Premier Albert Sarraut

PENDING developments on the League of Nations' recommendations for peace talks, Premier Benito Mussolini halted his Ethiopian war. Word to London is that II Duce, in event of conflict in Locarno crisis, is with France.

Key figures in European situation is Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, of Germany, who scrapped the Locarno and Versailles pacts to remilitarize the Rhineland. Hitler dissolved the reichstag and called for new elections, to support him.

In a dramatic address at annual Memorial Day exercises in Berlin, Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, pledged the army's fealty to the Nazi cause and thanked Hitler for sending troops to remilitarize the Rhineland.

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Great Britain was believed to be considering appealing to Hitler to withdraw his troops from the Rhineland, and to pledge good faith of various nations while considering Hitler's peace proposals.

In a bitter and outspoken radio address to the nation, Premier Albert Sarraut of France announced flatly that France has "refused to examine" Hitler's offer to negotiate a 25-year peace pact. New Franco-Italian pact seemed sure.

M'GHEE BUYS 159 ACRES OF PERRY TOWNSHIP LAND

Harry McGhee, Williamsport, bought 159.80 acres of Perry-town land Monday afternoon for $62 an acre at a sheriff's sale at the courthouse.
The land was sold in the foreclosure suit of Grace W. Woods, New Jersey, against Lincoln Kirkpatrick, New Holland, and others.
The property was appraised at $85 per acre, or a total of $13,583. The purchase price was $9,907.60.

130 MEN AND BOYS ATTEND FATHER AND SON BANQUET

More than 130 men and boys attended the annual Father and Son banquet of the Methodist Episcopal Men's club Monday evening in the church basement.
The evening's feature was an excellent address by Dr. James Thomas, Columbus minister, who thrilled his audience with his treatment of the important subject of "Father and His Responsibility to His Son".
The April meeting of the club will be the annual election of officers. Dr. G. D. Phillips is the president.

ICKES CHARGES UTILITY FIRMS THWARTING PWA

Letter of Power Company to Vermont Town Revealed as Evidence

WASHINGTON, March 10—(UP)—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes charged today that the Duke Power Co., S. C., and the Central Vermont Public Service Corp. were seeking to thwart PWA's $78,000,000 municipal power program.
He charged the Duke company was delaying its appeal to the U. S. Supreme court to test finally the government's right to make loans and grants for publicly-owned power systems.

JONES RELEASED OF APPEARING IN MOORE ACCIDENT

Jesse Jones, 21, Williamsport, driver of the auto that injured Charles Moore, 70, of W. Water-st, Saturday night, appeared before Mayor W. J. Graham Monday evening and was exonerated of a charge of failure to stop after the accident.

He told Mayor Graham he stopped after striking the man, assisted him to the curb, and after a crowd had gathered went to take his car out of the street. When he returned Mr. Moore had been removed to his home. Witnesses, who were present after Mr. Moore had been struck, verified his story and Mayor Graham stated the charge would be dismissed. A number of Williamsport residents appeared in Jones' behalf.
The auto, officers said, is owned jointly by Mr. Jones and his sister, Mary. He was ordered to appear before the mayor at a later date to clear up a report police received that the tags had not been properly transferred on the auto.

REID APPOINTED TO WPA WRITERS' PROJECT POSITION

W. M. Reid, E. Union-st, former school teacher and city councilman, was appointed Monday as an assistant supervisor of the WPA Writers' project in the eleventh congressional district which includes nine counties.
The appointment was made through James Dunton, state director of the project. Mr. Reid will be employed five days each week in Chillicothe.

BLACK WILL FILED

Under the will of Mrs. Mary J. Black, Ashville, probated by Judge C. C. Young, her estate is equally divided between a stepson, Wesley Limes, and a niece, Mary Klemeyer, both of Columbus. Mr. Limes is named executor in the will, written Nov. 20, 1931.

WOMEN, ANGERED, MAY NOT HEAR ELEANOR

CLEVELAND, March 10.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech here tomorrow night may be boycotted by the Cuyahoga-co Democratic Women's club.
As the wife of the president arrived in Ohio for her initial engagement at Toledo, it was revealed that members of the Women's organization had threatened to stay away from Mrs. Roosevelt's speech unless Burr Gongwer, county boss, is endorsed by the National administration as a convention delegate.

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Collision at Routes 22 and 104 Happens at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Bernice Good, 30, of 800 Harmon-ave, Columbus, is in Berge hospital with a four-inch laceration on her forehead suffered Tuesday about 11 a. m. in an auto collision at Routes 22 and 104.
Mrs. Good was treated by Dr. E. R. Austin, and eight stitches were required to close the wound. County officers were not called to investigate the accident.

PETITION SEEKS IMPROVEMENT OF COUNTY HIGHWAY

Improvement of the Williamsport-Chillicothe-pk. from the Bazole hill south to the county line, a distance of approximately three miles, is asked in a petition presented to the county commissioners Monday.
It requests the road be given a stone and tar treatment, and was signed by thirty-three residents.
No action was taken by the board.

HOLLYWOOD CLUB SCENE OF HOLDUP; $15,000 TAKEN

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., March 10.—(UP)—Bandits robbed the Hollywood Country club of $15,000 today, using draperies to tie up a half dozen employees.
Five or six robbers, armed with automatics, swarmed over the club as it was preparing to close. An automobile was kept waiting to aid their escape.
Manager Harold E. Leopold was struck on the head by the bandits who cursed him as he was forced to open the safe. He estimated the loss at $15,000.
Draperies were torn down by the intruders to bind the employees.

NEW YORK BANK, THEATRE, OFFICE STRUCTURES HIT

Strikers Angered By Refusal to Arbitrate Issue New Call

NEW YORK, March 10—(UP)—Building service union strikers, angered by refusal of employers to arbitrate on their demands, changed their walkout today to more than 60 office, bank, theater and loft buildings in the busy Grand Central and Times Square districts.
Sealed orders had been dispatched to district leaders ordering a strike in Brooklyn and Queens, but were cancelled at the last minute until tomorrow.
18 More Affected
Eighteen tall structures in Broadway, including the 33-story Paramount building which some 10,000 persons visit daily, were affected. Also involved were the Strand and Palace theater buildings, the General Motors and Manufacturers Trust buildings.
In Fifth avenue, walkouts occurred in 27 buildings. The New York Central building, the Park-Lexington and 11 other Park avenue buildings were "pulled" by the building service union.
Buildings in Madison avenue, in East 42nd street and elsewhere in the mid-town neighborhood, from 42nd street north to 59th street, from East to Hudson rivers, were covered by the walkout call.
Strikebreakers were on hand to man abandoned elevators, and in most major buildings service was not long impaired.

FICHTER ENTERS CONTEST FOR CONGRESSIONAL JOB

COLUMBUS, March 10.—(UP)—Joseph W. Fichter, assistant director of education under Governor White from 1931 to 1935, will be a candidate for congressman-at-large in the Democratic primary. It was learned here today.
Fichter whose home is in Hamilton, is a lecturer for the Ohio State grange and has been an educator for 20 years.

PEYTON'S PLEA FOR LOW BOND DENIED IN COURT

CLEVELAND, March 10.—(UP)—Plea of Eddie Peyton, crooning Pittsburgh night life maestro, for low bond because he has a "sore toe" failed him today in police court.
Arraigned before Police Judge Mary B. Grossman as a fugitive from justice, Peyton was ordered held until $5,000 bond. His case was continued until March 17.

ADKINS OBTAINS PETITIONS, THEN LEAVES PRIMARY

Democratic Chairman Decides to Run for Congress, Changes His Mind

PICKENS NOT TO RUN

Mrs. Campbell, Perry-Twp, Enters Race for Position as County Recorder

Politics was in the news today with the deadline for nominating petitions drawing near. All petitions must be in the hands of Lawrence J. Johnson, election board clerk, prior to 6:30 p. m. Friday.
Some of today's developments were:
1. George G. Adkins, chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee, announced petitions to place him in the race for congress, but he changed his mind and will not enter the race. He has received support would be given by the Innell of Yellow Springs, announced last week.
2. Harry B. Welch of Perry-Twp filed his petition for congress on the Democratic ticket, the Ross-co board of election office. It contained about 100 names.
3. Ferd W. Thompson, secretary for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, announced he would enter the race. This was reported from an authoritative source.
4. Tom A. Benick, chairman of the Pickaway-co Republican executive committee, filed his petition Tuesday afternoon with the Franklin-co board of election for the G. O. P. nomination for the Ohio senate from the Pickaway-Franklin district No. 10.
5. Mrs. Florence T. Campbell of Perry-Twp placed her petition for recorder in circulation. Mrs. Campbell is the widow of Wiley Campbell and mother of five children. A daughter of the late L. P. Thomas, she is a college graduate and a capable woman. In Circleville, her petition was in charge of Harry J. Briggs.
Other developments were seen as possible Tuesday with several unconfirmed reports being heard concerning possible last-minute candidates.
Assured Support
Mr. Adkins did not announce definitely why he obtained his petitions then decided to remain out of the contest. Member of a politically strong family, certain of any aid he asked from the state organization, and leader of the county Democratic committee he was certain of support in practically every county in the district.
His decision to stay out leaves Pickaway-co without a "native son", something practically every other county has.
If Pickaway-co does not advance a potential candidate, it is highly probable Circleville and community will become a battle-ground for primary votes, as it usually is in the general election.

No one was reported seriously hurt. Damage was confined mostly to temporary structures erected for the Dade-co fair which was to open today. Two ferris wheels were twisted, tent canvas was shredded, and a merry-go-round and a "whip" destroyed. Loss was estimated at $50,000.

Power Lines Broken
Power lines were snapped and many small buildings were damaged as the storm skipped about over the fashionable southwest residential section and then headed for the less securely constructed buildings.

The wind which reached an estimated velocity of 43 miles an hour and lasted only a few minutes, moved at least two homes from their foundations. Huge window panes in Jackson memorial hospital were shattered and lights there failed momentarily.

Three hundred snakes were released on the street.

No one was reported seriously hurt. Damage was confined mostly to temporary structures erected for the Dade-co fair which was to open today. Two ferris wheels were twisted, tent canvas was shredded, and a merry-go-round and a "whip" destroyed. Loss was estimated at $50,000.

Power lines were snapped and many small buildings were damaged as the storm skipped about over the fashionable southwest residential section and then headed for the less securely constructed buildings.

The wind which reached an estimated velocity of 43 miles an hour and lasted only a few minutes, moved at least two homes from their foundations. Huge window panes in Jackson memorial hospital were shattered and lights there failed momentarily.

Three hundred snakes were released on the street.

REID APPOINTED TO WPA WRITERS' PROJECT POSITION

W. M. Reid, E. Union-st, former school teacher and city councilman, was appointed Monday as an assistant supervisor of the WPA Writers' project in the eleventh congressional district which includes nine counties.

The appointment was made through James Dunton, state director of the project. Mr. Reid will be employed five days each week in Chillicothe.

BLACK WILL FILED

Under the will of Mrs. Mary J. Black, Ashville, probated by Judge C. C. Young, her estate is equally divided between a stepson, Wesley Limes, and a niece, Mary Kielmeyer, both of Columbus. Mr. Limes is named executor in the will, written Nov. 20, 1931.

130 MEN AND BOYS ATTEND FATHER AND SON BANQUET

More than 130 men and boys attended the annual Father and Son banquet of the Methodist Episcopal Men's club Monday evening in the church basement.

The evening's feature was an excellent address by Dr. James Thomas, Columbus minister, who thrilled his audience with his treatment of the important subject of "Father and His Responsibility to His Son."

The April meeting of the club will be the annual election of officers. Dr. G. D. Phillips is the president.

Two Lancaster Papers Merged

R. Kenneth Kerr to Publish Eagle and Gazette

Announcement was made Tuesday of merger of the two Lancaster daily newspapers, The Eagle and The Gazette, to become effective Wednesday.

R. Kenneth Kerr, who became publisher of The Eagle Jan. 21, will be publisher of the combined newspapers. The Eagle became the property of Charles Sawyer, former lieutenant-governor, about a year ago.

The newspaper will be published in The Gazette plant.

Mr. Kerr is well known in Circleville. He is U. S. Marshal for the southern Ohio district.

M'GHEE BUYS 159 ACRES OF PERRY TOWNSHIP LAND

Harry McGhee, Williamsport, bought 159.80 acres of Perry-town land Monday afternoon for $62 an acre at a sheriff's sale at the courthouse.

The land was sold in the foreclosure suit of Grace W. Woods, New Jersey, against Lincoln Kirkpatrick, New Holland, and others.

The property was appraised at $85 per acre, or a total of $13,583. The purchase price was $9,907.60.

200 on Project; Court on Mound to Franklin Closed

WPA workers on the Court-st project were poured into the downtown district Tuesday morning, and are preparing the street for paving between Mound and Main-sts. Officials reported about 200 men are now on the project.

Bricks and sand had previously been cleared from the block between Mound and Franklin-sts and workers are repairing the base. Old bricks were being torn out and hauled away on the second block.

If weather permits, paving will be started Wednesday morning. Employees on the canal recreation project and the Thompson-rd project have been assigned to the Court-st work. The road project is completed and the canal work temporarily suspended. Approximately 60 men were on these two projects.

AUTO TAGS MAY BE USED WEDNESDAY; SALE IS SLOW

Although Wednesday is the first day for the use of new license plates only 500 have been issued by George E. Hammel, deputy registrar, and his assistants.

Last year approximately 4,000 were issued and the office expects a grand rush before the final day for using 1935 tags, March 31. Mr. Hammel urged car owners to purchase their tags as soon as possible.

Penalties Possible

4-If Hitler refuses to withdraw the troops, the Locarno powers would ask, as a unit, that the league council impose penalties on Germany, the first to be the withdrawal of ambassadors and other diplomatic representatives, as a gesture of disapproval of Hitler's action.

Flandin convened the meeting in the great salon of the foreign office adjoining his office. Chief delegates were: France, Flandin and Joseph Paul-Boncour, minister of state; Great Britain, Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, and Viscount Halifax, lord privy seal; Belgium, Premier-Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland; Italy, Ambassador Vittorio Cerruti.

PENDING developments on the League of Nations' recommendations for peace talks, Premier Benito Mussolini halted his Ethiopian war. Word to London is that Il Duce, in event of conflict in Locarno crisis, is with France.

Key figures in European situation is Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, of Germany, who scrapped the Locarno and Versailles pacts to remilitarize the Rhineland. Hitler dissolved the reichstag and called for new elections, to support him.

In a dramatic address at annual Memorial Day exercises in Berlin, Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, pledged the army's fealty to the Nazi cause and thanked Hitler for sending troops to remilitarize the Rhineland.

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Great Britain was believed to be considering appealing to Hitler to withdraw his troops from the Rhineland, and to pledge good faith of various nations while considering Hitler's peace proposals.

In a bitter and outspoken radio address to the nation, Premier Albert Sarraut of France announced flatly that France has "refused to examine" Hitler's offer to negotiate a 25-year peace pact. New Franco-Italian pact seemed sure.

IMMEDIATE MOVE REMOTE

Polish Corridor Forgotten By Hitler for Friendship of People, Report

Copyright 1936 By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—War, not between Germany and France, but rather between Germany and Soviet Russia was foreseen today by diplomatic realists as the greatest danger in Europe's present crisis.

Statesmen generally are agreed that the prospect of immediate fighting anywhere in Europe is remote.

They expect a period of heated diplomatic note-writing and fervent oratory at Geneva, then a cease fire in western Europe—unless a realistic peace structure can be built on the remains of the Versailles treaty.

Reasons Declared

But to students of European politics the danger of eventual war in eastern Europe has become even greater as the result of Hitler's march into the Rhineland. They reason thus:

Germany, having freely relinquished claim to Alsace-Lorraine, has no desire to fight France. Hitler's ambitions, as he clearly set forth in his testament, "Mein Kampf," lie in the east, toward Russia. But Paris recently signed a pact of mutual assistance with Moscow. Hence if Germany and Russia went to war, France might come to the aid of its ally. So Germany, it is argued, considered it necessary to reoccupy the Rhineland in order to build up a strong defensive wall against France.

The rest of Hitler's program—25-year non-aggression pacts with France and Belgium, non-aggression treaties of unstated duration with other neighbors and the western air agreement—were designed, diplomats believe, to solidify the peace in western Europe and leave Germany free to act in the east.

Whether Hitler's plan is successful will depend on whether the former allies, convinced that the Versailles document has become a "scrap of paper," will agree to negotiate with Germany on the basis of complete German independence.

May Need Force

American officials doubt that the British and French will be able to take any effective measures to clear the Rhineland of German troops. Nothing short of physical force, it is believed, can accomplish this—and no one expects to see the French march into the demilitarized zone.

Having had several days to study Hitler's dramatic statement of Saturday, diplomats see several important points which, for the moment, were overshadowed by the immense fact that German troops had moved into the Rhineland. Two were:

1. Although Hitler was willing to conclude non-aggression treaties with western European powers, there was no mention of Soviet Russia. Relations between Berlin and Moscow have been tense for two years.

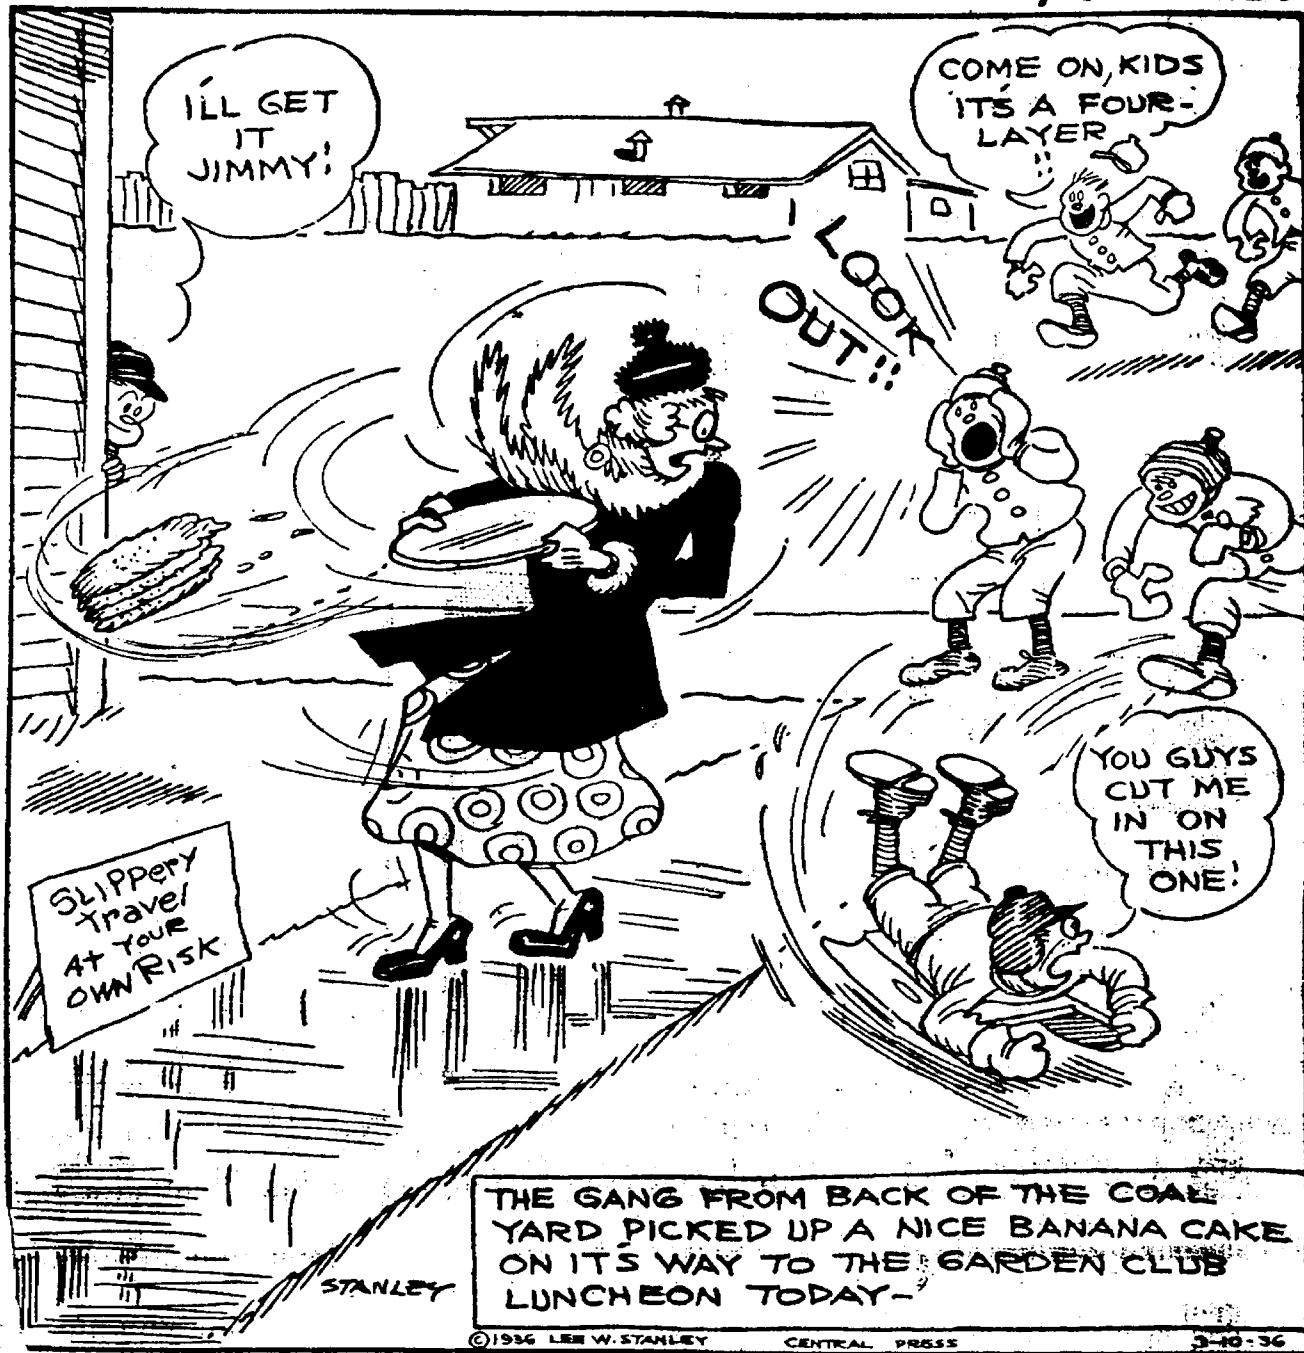

2. Hitler appeared to assure the Poles that he had no intention of challenging their right to the Polish corridor, which runs through German territory. This despite the fact that for years the German-Polish quarrel over the corridor kept their relations at white heat.

For many months the foreign offices of eastern Europe have heard rumors of a certain alleged German strategy. They were to the effect that Germany was willing, for the moment, to forget the corridor question, in return for Polish friendship, or at least neutrality. Then, following a problematically successful war against Russia and the Baltic states, it would negotiate with Poland for return of the

PLAY OF JUNIOR CLASS PLANNED FOR TWO NIGHTS

Hardships in modernizing a small midwestern town as experienced by its young attorney are featured in the Junior Class play, "The Boomer," which will be presented Thursday and Friday in the high school auditorium.

The scene of the three-act comedy is in office of Elmer Carter, Hoopstown's lone attorney. Carter, having high ambitions for the small village, wishes the townspeople to modernize the community. Miss Bartlett, who owns half of the town, will not permit such changes.

Through the efforts of a mysterious stranger who claims that a factory will move to Hoopstown if it is modernized, Carter's wishes are granted. The plot thickens when it is learned that John Roberts, the mysterious stranger, is a crook and plans for removing the factory to the town were false.

Portraying the role of the struggling lawyer is Don Henry cast as Elmer Carter. Jack E. Brown playing the part of John Roberts enacts the sly criminal. The comedy is furnished by Joe Cook and Montford Kirkwood as Ephraim, Carter's servant, and Cyrus Green, respectively. Others in the cast are Faye Elliott and Jessie Dresbach as Peggy Prosser and Mae Morris.

John Rankin has the role of Ezekiah Bowman, with the parts of Mrs. Bowman and their daughter, Nellie, being acted by Dorothy Avis and Ruby Chaffin, respectively. The cast is completed with Rosemary Neuding as Miss Bartlett, Wahnta Barnhart in the role of Pauline Hicks, and Jack Brown as M. H. Johnson.

Tickets for the production are on sale by all juniors. These tickets may be exchanged for reserved seats at Hamilton and Ryan's drug store with no additional cost.

FARM AND HOME GROUP TO MEET TO TALK DUTIES

Dr. Falconer, State Chairman, Calls Conference Friday in Columbus

Announcement was made Tuesday by Dr. J. I. Falconer, chairman of The State Farm and Home Protective committee, of a group meeting of the 14 central Ohio committees, to be held at the Neil house, Columbus, Friday, March 13 at 10 a. m. The counties represented are: Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Hocking, Knox, Madison, Morrow, Muskingum, Perry, Pickaway and Union.

Dr. Falconer, chairman, will represent the state committee. He said the purpose of the meeting was to bring together the county committees in small groups to discuss the problems confronting them during the coming year.

Named by Governor

These voluntary committees are appointed by the Governor to assist and advise those in their communities who are in mortgage difficulties. Dr. Falconer, states that 36 county committees are now organized with over 700 members. These are outstanding citizens who have been working gratuitously since 1932 to help their neighbors with their problems. They have handled over 20,000 cases involving about $8,000,000 in farm and home mortgages.

The Resettlement administration of the Federal government is taking an active part in this work. A. L. Sorensen, state director of the Resettlement administration, will attend the meeting and explain the relation of the Rehabilitation and Farm Debt Adjustment Division to the farm and home committee work.

Members of the Pickaway-co committee are: George Kirk, chairman, New Holland; John H. Dunlap, Williamsport; John L. May, Circleville; Whitney E. Lamb, Commercial Point, and F. K. Blair, county agent, Circleville.

DETECTOR FAILS BUT MAN ADMITS KILLING WOMAN

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., March 10.—(UP)—Jerome Von Braun Selz, 27-year-old army deserter and service station employe, successfully defied a "lie detector" test, then broke down and confessed the slaying of Mrs. Ada French Rice, 58, police reported today.

The lie detector test was made yesterday at headquarters of Berkeley's "scientific" police department. Selz' answers during the test were flippant, police said, and he appeared unruffled. He refused to answer some questions, they said, and his only departure from normal composure was a rise in blood pressure and a quickening of the pulse.

Abandoning the lie detector method, the police subjected Selz to lengthy questioning, following which he broke down and confessed murdering the Rice woman, they said.

During the recent cold weather Harry's front porch thermometer always registered a little lower than did that of anyone else. Harry had been bothered by a mouse it seems, so decided that he would put a piece of poisoned cheese on the porch. It happened the place he selected was immediately under the thermometer.

"One night," it is said, "the thermometer fell so fast it caught the mouse eating the cheese and it was several days before the mercury climbed high enough for Harry to remove the dead rodent."

DETECTOR FAILS BUT MAN 'ADMITS KILLING WOMAN

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., March 10.—(UP)—Jerome Von Braun Selz, 27-year-old army deserter and service station employe, successfully defied a "lie detector" test, then broke down and confessed the slaying of Mrs. Ada French Rice, 58, police reported today.

The lie detector test was made yesterday at headquarters of Berkeley's "scientific" police department. Selz' answers during the test were flippant, police said, and he appeared unruffled. He refused to answer some questions, they said, and his only departure from normal composure was a rise in blood pressure and a quickening of the pulse.

Abandoning the lie detector method, the police subjected Selz to lengthy questioning, following which he broke down and confessed murdering the Rice woman, they said.

all Tales

A NEW one is being told on Harry Steinhauer.

During the recent cold weather Harry's front porch thermometer always registered a little lower than did that of anyone else. Harry had been bothered by a mouse it seems, so decided that he would put a piece of poisoned cheese on the porch. It happened the place he selected was immediately under the thermometer.

"One night," it is said, "the thermometer fell so fast it caught the mouse eating the cheese and it was several days before the mercury climbed high enough for Harry to remove the dead rodent."

Each Puff Less Acid A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Candidates Vie for Delegates in New Hampshire; F. D. R. Has Foe

CONCORD, N. H., March 10 (UP)—New Hampshire's presidential primary, first of the 1936 campaign, pitted two outstanding Republican candidates against each other and President Roosevelt against a volunteer favorite son today.

It was reasonably certain that Frank Knox, Concord and Chicago publisher, would win a majority of Republican convention delegates and that President Roosevelt's prestige would not be seriously ruffled, but several contests between individual delegates promised an indication of which way political winds are blowing.

Republican voters were to elect seven delegates-at-large and four district delegates. Democratic voters, pitted for eight delegates-at-large and four district delegates. New Hampshire Republicans won three convention seats above their 1932 representation by holding the state in the G. O. P. column in that year's election.

Landon Opposes Knox

Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas opposed Knox in the Republican contest. A conclusive fight was prevented by the fact that none of the 26 candidates for the 11 convention seats was formally pledged to a candidate.

But State Senator Elliot A. Carter pledged himself informally to Landon and thereby created a test of Knox-Landon strength, because all the other candidates promised, in the same manner, to support Knox.

Carter made a vigorous campaign for election at a delegate-at-large. If he were elected, against the otherwise solid and powerful Knox front, Landon adherents would interpret the victory as proof of a public sentiment for the Kansan.

Virtually all the Republican candidates would take Landon as second choice if Knox's candidacy collapsed in the convention. Knox won their support largely because he is publisher of the Leader Union of Manchester, the state's largest newspaper, and maintains a home here.

PWA for a $163,000 power plant. PWA had won a federal Circuit Court of Appeals decision from the Duke company, which upheld the constitutionality of PWA's $2,852,000 allotment for the Greenwood-co. S. C. power project.

"I understand unofficially," Ickes said, "that the Duke Power company isn't so eager as it was to appeal the case to the Supreme court."

If the Duke firm should rush its appeal, the court could rule this session on the issue and either validate the government's whole non-federal power program or declare it unconstitutional. Ickes said PWA was ready for the test.

The Central Vermont Corp. letter was signed by Albert A. Cree, vice-president. Addressed to F. L. Smith, chairman of the Brandon board of selectment, it said:

"If the town of Brandon will abandon its municipal plant project, Central Vermont Public Service Corp. will pay Brandon $3,000 to apply on the bill of Mr. Raymond E. Palmer, engineer, and will also pay the amount of the bill of Mr. Ernest W. Gibson, Jr., attorney, up to and which I understand will not exceed $300."

"And the assessment in Brandon for 1936 will be $10,000 more than present assessments and, if business substantially increases, another $5,000 will be added for 1937. "Street lighting contract will be executed as submitted for a term of four years, providing a reduction of $887 a year under the old contract."

Ickes characterized the letter as an "inducement" and pointed out the central Vermont firm had filed an injunction against PWA and Brandon to stop the project.

CIVIL SERVICE TESTS SCHEDULED THREE DAYS

April 1, 2, and 3 have been set for the next examinations to be conducted by the State Civil Service commission for positions in the state classified service.

The list of positions for which examinations will be conducted include secretaries for the Deans at Kent State Normal School, and Wilberforce University; Special Eye Nurse for the Commission for the Blind; Statistician, Grades II and IV, for the Division of Minimum Wage; Chief Nurse, Ohio Soldier's and Sailor's Orphan's Home; Photographer for the Department of Highways; Real Estate Appraiser for the Department of Commerce; Sales Clerk for Ohio State University and Superintendent of the Power Plant; Clerk, Grade I (Legal) Department of Liquor Control; Photostat Machine Operator; Stenographer, Grade III; Office Attendant; Trust Examiner, Grade III; Assistant Superintendent, Soap Plant at London Prison Farm; Student Adviser, Ohio State University; and Social Worker for County Children's Homes.

The official bulletin of the commission which gives complete details regarding all of these examinations, with the required qualifications of candidates, and the time and place for each examination has just been issued and will be mailed free upon request to the state Civil Service commission, Columbus.

Application blanks may be secured at the office of Forrest Short, county auditor, or from the state Civil Service commission.

paign for election at a delegate-at-large. If her were elected, against the otherwise solid and powerful Knox front, Landon adherents would interpret the victory as proof of a public sentiment for the Kansan.

Virtually all the Republican candidates would take Landon as second choice if Knox's candidacy collapsed in the convention. Knox won their support largely because he is publisher of the Leader Union of Manchester, the state's largest newspaper, and maintains a home here.

PWA for a $163,000 power plant. PWA had won a federal Circuit Court of Appeals decision from the Duke company, which upheld constitutionality of PWA's $2,852,000 allotment for the Greenwood-co, S. C., power project.

"I understand unofficially," Ickes said, "that the Duke Power company isn't so eager as it was to appeal the case to the Supreme court."

If the Duke firm should rush its appeal, the court could rule this session on the issue and either validate the government's whole non-federal power program or declare it unconstitutional. Ickes said PWA was ready for the test.

The Central Vermont Corp. letter was signed by Albert A. Cree, vice-president. Addressed to F. L. Smith, chairman of the Brandon board of selectment, it said:

"If the town of Brandon will abandon its municipal plant project, Central Vermont Public Service Corp. will pay Brandon $3,000 to apply on the bill of Mr. Raymond E. Palmer, engineer, and will also pay the amount of the bill of Mr. Ernest W. Gibson, jr., attorney, up to and which I understand will not exceed $300."

"And the assessment in Brandon for 1935 will be $10,000 more than present assessments and, if business substantially increases, another $5,000 will be added for 1937. "Street lighting contract will be executed as submitted for a term of four years, providing a reduction of $887 a year under the old contract."

Ickes characterized the letter as an "inducement" and pointed out the central Vermont firm had filed an injunction against PWA and Brandon to stop the project.

EDMOND FETHEROLF, 82, DEAD NEAR LAURELVILLE

TWO CENT BASE FARE RATE

THE closeness of the vote in the Interstate Commerce Commission over the reduction in the basic fare rate has encouraged the Eastern trunk lines, the B. & O. and C. & O. alone excepted, to make plans to obtain a rehearing. No move may be expected, however, until the situation has been more thoroughly canvassed.

While the change, which is set to take effect in June, was decided by a 4 to 5 vote, Commissioner Eastman would have sided with the majority had he participated. He took no part, consistent to his policy since he became co-ordinator, but he has maintained that lower fares were necessary for the railroad to recoup their passenger traffic losses. Commissioner Tate, who was ill during the hearings, is said also to incline the same way.

The decision was largely influenced by the favorable results from experiments with the lower rates in the South and West. It followed upon the study completed last July into the loss of passenger traffic in the East. The report submitted showed that in the six years prior to 1929 passenger traffic had declined 26.2 per cent, but the railroads claimed that they lost 18.5 per cent.

With the obvious necessity for doing something drastic, the plan should be given a fair trial.

THE WAR ON NOISE

HERE is the latest scientific demonstration in the war on needless noise: Place a small drum containing a partial vacuum against the soft area of the head. Imitate the prank of the children by blowing air into a paper bag and exploding it. Mechanism in the drum will show that brain pressure beneath it has been raised to four times normal for seven seconds and that the pressure does not abate for thirty seconds more. It is the latest scientific demonstration used in the war on needless noise. In the little drum is a needle which records vibrations in the adjacent area of the brain. The needle writes its story on a moving coil of paper. There is a record of what happens when the paper bag explodes.

The device of the drum, the needle and the paper bag is not the first to be used for Attention has already been drawn to it by dramatizing the war on din and hubbub, the machines which measure the relative

The tax fight in congress has blighted all hopes of an early adjournment of the lawmakers. Leaders of the opposing forces on Capitol Hill express doubts that the session can be ended before the opening of the national conventions in June.

The contest in Washington, of course, will hinge on President Roosevelt's demand for a heavy levy upon accumulated corporate profits, in order:

1. Ostensibly to raise revenue.
2. In reality, critics say, to force big companies, with huge reserves, to pass these reserves out, in the form of dividends, thus putting more money into circulation.

Many Democratic legislators, including some loyal supporters of the administration, complain that this suggestion was poor political strategy on the presidential part, anyway, at this time, on the eve of a campaign.

LONDON TURNS DOWN INVITATION

WASHINGTON—Governor Alf Landon of Kansas has been reaping so much big business support in the East recently that it worries him.

Not long ago he got a confidential invitation from a big banker close to J. P. Morgan, urging that he come incognito to New York and spend a week-end on Long Island. Half a dozen of New York's most important executives, it was explained, were anxious to get acquainted with him.

If they liked him—and this particular banker was sure they would—it would mean real money in support of Landon.

To this the Governor of Kansas sent a blunt negative. He said he did not care to consider the invitation.

NOTE—One of the things which Landon's friends say worries him is the fact that Standard Oil interests are for him. As a Kansas oil man, Landon fought Standard, believes it is no political asset to have that company's support now.

GOT RELIGION

One of the biggest laughs around Washington these days comes from watching anti-New Deal Democrats come home to roost. There has been a steady stream of them of late, protesting deep affection for all the President stands for.

Reason: Some of them are up for election, and in their particular districts Roosevelt is too strong.

Most comic examples are Senators Carter Glass and Harry Byrd of Virginia; the eminent Josiah Bailey of North Carolina; and socialite Millard Tydings of Maryland. Last session they stormed and raged against the Administration. Today they've "got religion" and got it strong.

Glass and Bailey are up for re-election in November. At a meeting of Virginia Young Democrats which he was to address, Glass, a little tardy, explained that he had been detained by a long distance call from Washington.

"My good friend Postmaster General Farley," he said, "called me to ask my opinion on a matter."

RICH RETAINERS

Charles M. Trammell, recently resigned from the Board of Tax Appeals, where he was sitting on the Mellon case, is in line for a rich harvest.

He had been retained by the Associated Gas and Electric Company in the suit which the Government has brought to recover $40,000,000 of taxes.

This is in addition to Trammell's retainer in the $2,061,021 tax suit the Government has lodged against a duPont subsidiary.

All of which has brought up the question of Government officials resigning to represent private tax claimants in suits against the United States.

intensities of the noises of the street. The language has been enriched by the world "decibel," meaning the unit involved in such measurements.

With All My Heart

CHAPTER 33

THORA found herself thinking of her first meeting with Alf Babba. How his manner had seemed to change with the discarding of his monocle. He had done it again. He uttered his last words—about betting on race horses—in a vernacular that did not fit his earlier drawing of a man. She was pulling it in her mind when he spoke again. "Ever been over on the other side?" Babba asked.

"No, I never have."

"You could do rather well for yourself over there. Take a job of some sort. You know, for the travel and experience. I'm not sure I couldn't do something for you. Maybe you'd like to go back with Wilma and me."

"You plan to live in Europe?" was Thora's reply to that suggestion.

"Oh, eventually. I came over this time sooner than I expected to and my plans are rather up in the air. It all depends. Did Wilma happen to tell you how we met?"

"No."

"Very unexpected, you know. If anybody would have told me that I was coming to the States to be married, I'd have said he was crazy. I tried it once before. No good. Just shows you never know what will turn up."

He flipped his cigarette across the path and into a flower bed. "I'll be glad when it's all over with. I'm a frightened fellow. Babba displayed his perfect teeth in a cheerful smile.

"Is it?"

"Rather. I'm not keen on all this exhibition rot. Not half-bad loafing around like this, though. You know I'm getting quite thick with the old gentleman now. Made a hit with him by listening to him tell about that book he's doing. I haven't the faintest notion what it's all about, but he became quite chummy when I told him we had some dainties and whatnot at home dating back a few hundred years. Told him I'd ship the lot over when I got back. Maybe he could write another work or two."

"That sounds very interesting."

"I couldn't get up any fever about them. But he became quite chummy when I told him we had some dainties and whatnot at home dating back a few hundred years. Told him I'd ship the lot over when I got back. Maybe he could write another work or two."

MASTERING BRIDGE (55)

EXCELLENT players, lacking wide experience, often depart from standard procedure merely through lack of perfect understanding of just when and how a bid is used by experts. Such departure ranks only as an error. A "bidding whim" is different, being a deliberate departure from standard usage for some special reason: belief in its greater efficiency, broader application, simplicity, intent to deceive opponents or stooping to convey secret information to partner. Promoters of bidding systems often have introduced "whims" merely to add another "talking point" to sales patter.

For 15 years the best practice has been, and still is, to bid a suit previously called by an opponent, for one of two unmistakable reasons: If partner has not previously bid the call shows that the second bidder of the suit, not the first bidder, really holds great strength in the suit; if partner has previously bid, bidding a suit already called by an opponent shows no losers in that suit and asks partner to show features, leading up to a possible slam. In case your partner makes an opening bid, and second hand interjects a bid of your strong suit, two courses are open: you may bid no trumps to show stops to that suit, or you may jump the bid in the suit named by opponent, to show he has made a psychic bid to prevent your side from bidding game or slam. If it will pay better than previous procedure to double opponent's weak or psychic bid, do so.

In any national tournament bidding whims are dangerous to use, as the user may be accused of improper procedure, calling for rebuke or penalty. In more local events slight variations from standard procedure (as one player deems it) are numerous and innocently employed. For example: the four following hands are excellent for opening bids.

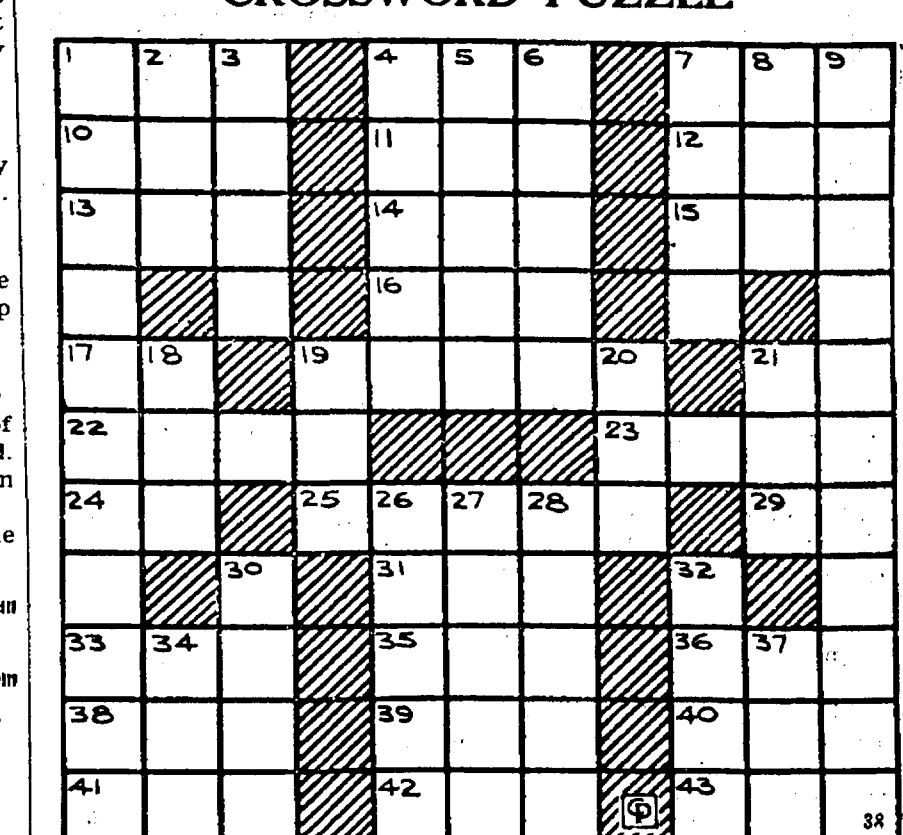

1-Club
♦ A J 7
♥ K J 5
♠ A Q 10
1-Diamond
♦ K Q 10
♥ 10 7 3
♠ K Q J
1-Heart
♦ J 8 4
♥ A Q 9 7
♠ K 10 8
1-Spade
♦ A K 10 2
♥ K J 7
♠ Q J 9
♣ 8 5 4

Another whim bid now in use is illustrated with the following two hands. The whim is to bid a minor suit, even a three-card or two-card suit, if twice stopped, rather than bid 1-No Trump on three guarded suits, or rather than bid a major suit not headed by A-K-Q or four honors.

1-Club
♦ K 7 5
♥ K J 10 4
♠ A J 8
♣ A K 3
1-Diamond
♦ A J 10 6
♥ J 8 5
♠ A K
♣ K 9 6 2
The trouble with both the above whims is that so many hands afford sound 1-No Trump calls under general procedure, but do not conform exactly to bidding under either of above whims. For example, see the hand below.

♦ K Q 9 6
♥ J 8 4
♠ A J 7
♣ A J 3

DIET AND HEALTH

Dietetic Tricks for Person Who is Reducing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE AVERAGE overweight finds a reducing diet hard going, first, because he does not get enough food to satisfy his appetite, and second, because he misses the pleasures of such things as salad dressing, gravy and sweets. Then there are no such things as actually thinning foods, but only foods which keep him at a standstill. What we would like to do would be to find some articles of food which have no nutritive value which we could substitute for the real enemies of the overweight. Those real enemies, as I have just said, are the fats and the sweets.

One practical dodge is to substitute mineral oil for olive oil in salad dressing or mayonnaise. Olive oil has a perfectly tremendous caloric value. One tablespoon of olive oil has 121 calories, and an ordinary serving of mayonnaise dressing has 187 calories. Now it is possible to reduce this three-quarters and still have a palatable dressing. I know what I am talking about because I use it all the time myself.

Paul Whiteman's recipe for salad dressing is as follows: Four thin slices onion, two and one-fourth teaspoons salt, five tablespoons vinegar, one-half teaspoon paprika, two tablespoons sugar, few grains cayenne, one cup liquid petroleum.

These things are in caloric value, this dressing is good for constipation.

Anyone can make a palatable French dressing, substituting mineral oil or liquid petroleum for olive oil and using Worcester sauce, mustard, etc., to taste. A recipe for mayonnaise is as follows: One cup of oil, juice of half a lemon, one-third cup of vinegar, one teaspoon dry mustard, dash of yolk of egg, one teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne pepper, one-fourth teaspoon of black and white pepper, mixed; Worcester sauce to taste.

So far as sweets are concerned, the substance called "saccharin" has been used to take the place of sugar in the diet of diabetics and overweight for years. It can be used to make desserts or for sweetening coffee, though adding anything to the caloric intake.

A substitute for butter, which shall contain little or no fat, would be a highly desirable product, but I know of none at present on the market or, in fact, anywhere else. Coconut fat is a little lower in caloric value than butter and could be used. What would be desirable would be a mineral oil with a thicker consistency than liquid petroleum which could be flavored to a butter taste. Something awaits the ingenious chemist who can develop a non-fat butter substitute which is palatable.

DIET FOR THURSDAY
Breakfast—Glass of orange juice; cup of tea or coffee without sugar or cream.

Lunch—Two hard-boiled eggs, sliced; large tomato, sliced; half of a grapefruit; cup of coffee without sugar or cream.

Supper—Half of a breast of broiled chicken; turnip and carrots, stewed; half of an average grapefruit; cup of tea or coffee without sugar or cream.

These things are in caloric value, this dressing is good for constipation.

TWO CENT BASE FARE RATE

THE closeness of the vote in the Interstate Commerce Commission over the reduction in the basic fare rate has encouraged the Eastern trunk lines, the B. & O. and C. & O. alone excepted, to make plans to obtain a rehearing. No move may be expected, however, until the situation has been more thoroughly canvassed.

While the change, which is set to take effect in June, was decided by a 4 to 5 vote, Commissioner Eastman would have sided with the majority had he participated. He took no part, consistent to his policy since he became co-ordinator, but he has maintained that lower fares were necessary for the railroad to recoup their passenger traffic losses. Commissioner Tate, who was ill during the hearings, is said also to incline the same way.

The decision was largely influenced by the favorable results from experiments with the lower rates in the South and West. It followed upon the study completed last July into the loss of passenger traffic in the East. The report submitted showed that in the six years prior to 1929 inter-city passenger traffic mileage increased 262 per cent, but the railroads didn't share it. Instead they lost 18.5 per cent.

With the obvious necessity for doing something drastic, the plan should be given a fair trial.

LONDON TURNS DOWN INVITATION

WASHINGTON—Governor Alf Landon of Kansas has been reaping so much big business support in the East recently that it worries him.

Not long ago he got a confidential invitation from a big banker close to J. P. Morgan, urging that he come incognito to New York and spend a week-end on Long Island. Half a dozen of New York's most important executives, it was explained, were anxious to get acquainted with him.

If they liked him—and this particular banker was sure they would—it would mean real money in support of Landon.

To this the Governor of Kansas sent a blunt negative. He said he did not care to consider the invitation.

NOTE—One of the things which Landon's friends say worries him is the fact that Standard Oil interests are for him. As a Kansas oil man, Landon fought Standard, believes it is no political asset to have that company's support now.

GOT RELIGION

One of the biggest laughs around Washington these days comes from watching anti-New Deal Democrats come home to roost. There has been a steady stream of them of late, protesting deep affection for all the President stands for.

Reason: Some of them are up for election, and in their particular districts Roosevelt is too strong.

Most comic examples are Senators Carter Glass and Harry Byrd of Virginia; the eminent Josiah Bailey of North Carolina; and socialite Millard Tydings of Maryland.

Last session they stormed and raged against the Administration. Today they've "got religion" and got it strong.

Glass and Bailey are up for re-election in November. At a meeting of Virginia Young Democrats which he was to address, Glass, a little tardy, explained that he had been detained by a long distance call from Washington.

"My good friend Postmaster General Farley," he said, "called me to ask my opinion on a matter."

This is in addition to Trammell's retainer in the $2,061,021 tax suit the Government has lodged against a duPont subsidiary.

With All My Heart

CHAPTER 33

THORA FOUND herself thinking of her first meeting with Alf Babba how his manner had seemed to change with the discarding of his monocle. He had done it again.

"Ever been over on the other side?" Babba asked.

"No, I never have."

"You could do rather well for yourself over there, I fancy. Take a job of some sort . . . you know, for the travel and experience. I'm not sure I couldn't do something for you. Maybe you'd like to go back with Wilma and me."

"You plan to live in Europe?" was Thora's reply to that suggestion.

"Oh, eventually. I came over this time sooner than I expected to and my plans are rather up in the air. It all depends. Did Wilma happen to tell you how we met?"

"No."

"Very unexpected, you know. If anybody would have told me that I was coming to the States to be married, I'd have said he was crazy. I tried it once before . . . no good. Just shows you never know what will turn up." He flipped his cigarette across the path and into a flower bed. "I'll be glad when it's all done with. Frightful bother," Babba displayed his perfect teeth in a cheerful smile.

"Is it?"

"Rather. I'm not keen on all this exhibition rot . . . not half-bad laughing around like this, though. You know I'm getting quite thick with the old gentleman, now. Made a hit with him by listening to him tell about that book he's doing. I haven't the faintest notion what it's all about, but he became quite chummy when I told him we had some diaries and whatnot at home dating back a few hundred years. Told him I'd ship the lot over when I got back, maybe he could write another work or two."

"That sounds very interesting."

"I couldn't get up any fever about them. But it gave me an inside track, all right. We've had no end of chats about business. The old boy is very keen on things . . . wouldn't wonder if he might get together on a proposition some friends and I are working on. That's one reason I came over when I did."

"I see," Thora said thoughtfully. For some reason she couldn't imagine Mr. Marsh going into business with Alf Babba. But he must be a very shrewd man and . . . it was none of her affair, after all.

"We have one bond of sympathy," Babba continued, with something of a chuckle. "It looks to me as if your boss was headed for the same fate."

That little brass-headed widow was giving him the works. Guess he'd noticed. I suppose she figures the old boy will be lonesome . . . with Wilma gone. Not a bad looker for her age, either. Clever, don't you think?"

"I have a very slight acquaintance with Mrs. Steele, Thora remarked composedly. She was gathering up her flowers preparatory to leaving.

"I wouldn't expect the two of you to be very palmy," Babba offered, taking another cigarette from his case. "She probably is afraid you might throw a wrench into her machine. The old boy likes you no end."

"If you will excuse me, I must go and get to work."

"Righto. If Wilma shows up, tell her I'm out here . . . like a good girl."

Thora's cheeks were flushed as she started to the house. She thought that she had revised her feelings toward Mr. Babba after their first encounter. His manner had always been restrained and courteous when she had been in his company. He was a very different man from the one who had been so kind to her. His relationship to Wilma was marked by assiduous little attentions in the presence of others, never overdone. Wilma was much more frank in the display of her affection. Thora thought.

And she particularly resented the remarks Babba had made about Mr. Marsh and Mrs. Steele.

The latter had been at Fair Acres very often and seemed to have assumed direction of its social activities. Thora had thought nothing of it, from what she had been able to observe. It was only natural that Mrs. Steele would be trying to fill the place that would have belonged to Wilma's mother at such a time. In the natural order of things, Mrs. Steele would be paired with Mr. Marsh when the family entertained or was being entertained.

It had not occurred to Thora that Mrs. Steele was playing a new game of her own, yet the suggestion thrown out by Alf Babba was unpleasant. She would hate to see any man the prey of a woman's scheming. A woman like Mrs. Steele, Thora was reminded of what Mrs. Myron had said. "If there was something to happen, something to upset him, she might bring him into taking her." Perhaps this sudden love affair of Wilma might furnish the "upset." Even though the father and daughter were not close to each other, Mr. Marsh would undoubtedly miss Wilma when she went out of his life. Things would be different at Fair Acres.

Thora was still turning this matter over in her mind when she entered the dining room to find Sherman Gordon there, prowling about in search of food, as he explained cheerfully.

"I was wondering where the dickens you were," he complained. "I was supposed to meet the love birds and Mrs. Dorothy here . . . the ladies had an idea they wanted to start early to avoid the mob. I should have known . . ."

"Mr. Babba is up," Thora volunteered. "He is out in the garden. I was talking to him just now."

"Ah, a treat. See here, young woman . . . don't you know that I'm the only man you're supposed to meet in the wee small hours?"

"I had quite forgotten," Thora admitted smilingly. "Isn't Mr. Marsh playing with you?"

"Say! If there was any chance of his being dragged out on the links this time of day, you don't think for a minute I'd be here, do you?"

"I didn't know."

"Oh, five is a crowd, with that bunch. From the smile that accompanied his words, Thora knew that he was referring to Mrs. Steele. Then he had noticed, too.

"Otherwise," Sherman continued calmly, "I would have waited until they cleared out, then I would have had you all to myself for a visit. I think it would be very nice for us to have some coffee together while we are waiting for the clans to gather. How about it?"

The smile he gave her was so infectious that Thora found herself agreeing to the suggestion.

"This is fine," Gordon beamed a little later, as he accepted the cup Thora handed him. "I hope the alarm clocks will go off and that Alf Babba falls asleep among the flowers. By the way, how is that chap early in the morning . . . before he has time to climb into his monocle?"

"Quite good-natured, I thought."

"He's rather hard to become acquainted with, I find. But I sort of like him, the more I see of him. I take it back . . . I hate him. He's coming up the path now." Gordon lowered his voice and spoke rapidly. "There's a polo lesson early tomorrow. I'll be waiting . . . same place. Ah . . ." His voice rose. "Good morning, Alec. You're looking very fit."

THE WANDERING KNIGHTS SONG

My ornaments are arms,
My pastime is in war,
My bed is cold upon the world,
My lamp yon star.

My journeyings are long,
My slumbers short and broken;
From hill to hill I wander still,
Kissing thy token.

DUNA

When I was a little lad
With folly on my lips,
Fain was I for journeying
All the seas in ships.
But now across the southern swell,
Every dawn I hear
The little streams of Duna
Running clear.

When I was a young man,
Before my beard was gray,
All to ships and sailormen
I gave my heart away.
But I'm weary of the sea-wind
I'm weary of the foam,
And the little stars of Duna
Call me home.

Promoters of bidding systems often have introduced "whims," merely to add another "talking point" to sale's patter.

For 15 years the best practice has been, and still is, to bid a suit previously called by an opponent, for one of two unmistakable reasons: if partner has not previously bid the call shows that the second bidder of the suit, not the first bidder, really holds great strength in the suit; if partner has previously bid, bidding a suit already called by an opponent shows no losers in that suit and asks partner to show features, leading up to a possible slam. of 1-No Trump, to show 4-3-3-3 holdings, with three guarded suits. Some bidders prefer to bid as indicated, the suit bid always being the one ranking just below the unguarded suit. The 1-Spade bid, working around the corner, means that clubs are not guarded. I like to know that such bids are used, but certainly I never would protest so slight a whim.

Another whim bid now in use is illustrated with the following two hands. The whim is to bid a minor suit, even a three-card or two-card suit, if twice stopped, rather than bid 1-No Trump on three guarded suits, or rather than bid a major four-card suit not headed by A-K-Q or four honors.

THEY'RE EDUCATED
Tourist (in Yellowstone park): Those Indians have a blood-curdling yell.
Guide: Yes, ma'am; every one of 'em is a college graduate.

To renovate velvet hats brush oatmeal into them with a stiff brush and continue brushing until it has been taken out again and the dirt with it. Take care to brush only in one direction so as not to spoil the set of the surface. Stains may be removed by rubbing with a rag sparingly moistened with pure benzene.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

The tax fight in congress has blighted all hopes of an early adjournment of the lawmakers. Leaders of the opposing forces on Capitol Hill express doubts that the session can be ended before the opening of the national conventions in June.

The contest in Washington, of course, will hinge on President Roosevelt's demand for a heavy levy upon accumulated corporate profits, in order:

1. Ostensibly to raise revenue.
2. In reality, critics say, to force big companies, with huge reserves, to pass these reserves out, in the form of dividends, thus putting more money into circulation.

DEMOCRATS FEARFUL

Many Democratic legislators, including some loyal supporters of the administration, complain that this suggestion was poor political strategy on the presidential part, anyway, at this time, on the eve of a campaign.

It already is interpreted, they point out, as a "share our wealth," "soak the thrifty" scheme—just what the New Deal has been accused of so often. Others say it will help him with the mass of voters.

At least there will be arguments on the floor of congress. First the president's original plan must be wrangled over; then each substitute plan must be wrangled over in detail. The dispute is so complicated as to be likely to go on indefinitely.

But the guess is that the Roosevelt plan, with its tax on undistributed corporation earnings, will be passed.

State, National D. A. R. Meetings This Spring

State Sessions Open
In Springfield
Next Week

Members of the Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution are interested in two conferences to be held this spring, the national and state meetings.

The annual D. A. R. conference is scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17, 18, 19, in Springfield, and the national D. A. R. congress will be held in Washington, D. C., in April.

Mrs. John S. Heaume is the state regent and will be in charge of the conference which opens next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. in the Masonic temple.

A number of local members plan to attend besides the delegates who are Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, regent; Mrs. Bryce Briggs, first vice regent; Mrs. Paul Cromley, second vice regent, and Mrs. William Mack. Alternates include Mrs. Orin King, Mrs. Harry Dunlap, Mrs. Harvey Sweyer, Mrs. Harry McGhee, and Miss Alice Ada May.

Both Tuesday morning and afternoon sessions will consist of reports and music and the formal opening of the conference will be Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program has been outlined for this session.

Edward G. Mead of Miami university, Oxford, will give a program of organ music by American composers and Dr. Reese Edgar Tullos, president of Wittenberg college, will give the address. Other speakers and exercises are scheduled and will be interspersed by musical numbers.

More reports will be heard at the Wednesday morning session at 9:30 and a memorial service will be conducted at 11:30. In the afternoon there will be a tea from 2 to 4 o'clock at the Springfield Country club at which Lagonda chapter will be hostess to all visiting D. A. R. chapters.

At 7 o'clock Wednesday evening will be the annual state banquet followed by a musical production "Tulip Time" under the direction of John Bennett Ham, a member of Chamber Opera Companies, Chicago.

Thursday morning there will be several reports, new business and the closing of the conference.

Delegates from the local chapter to the National congress in April include Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker and Mrs. Bryce Briggs with Mrs. Harp Van Riper and Mrs. Harry Heffner as alternates.

Mary Lewis Comes Back

MANY SINGERS of popular songs dream of the time when they may, by some freak of fate, get a chance at grand opera.

Now we have in Mary Lewis a star of the Metropolitan opera who will temporarily at least forsake the arias for the livelier airs.

Miss Lewis retired in 1931 after her marriage to Robert Hague, oil company executive. In making her comeback (you may hear her on an NBC-WJZ program) she plans to combine modern rhythm with classic technique.

Vietnamese Tunes

Vietnamese music will dominate Sigmund Romberg's program tonight, when he presents three of his own compositions and one by Johann Strauss, and one by Franz Lehár, in the broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 10 p.m. One of the Romberg tunes is an original specially written for the radio series. It is titled "Kolo."

The others are "Marching Marionettes" from "The Night Is Young," a stirring march tune, and "Tell Me Daisy" from "Blossom Time." From the works of Johann Strauss, Romberg will conduct his orchestra in the "Fledermaus" Overture and from Lehár he will play the "Gypsy Baron" Prelude. The "Berceuse" from "Carmen" by Godard completes the program.

You may hear the Marx Brothers in a new air show called "Hilbilly stuff seems to be taking in popularity. Have you noticed? . . . The Helen Hayes show will wind up March 24, according to reports. . . . Radio will honor Fred Stone's 50 years in entertainment business with a half hour NBC program on March 14. . . . ATHLETIC CLUB AMATEUR TOURNEY TERMED SUCCESS

TROPHIES GIVEN FIGHT WINNERS; MANY THRILLERS

Jackson-Twp School Wins Team Title; Other Victors Are Honored

The first Pickaway-co amateur boxing tournament was history Tuesday, but its memories will linger on for a long while. It will be recalled by boys who took part in it because several came out with black eyes, and bent and bloody noses; it will be recalled by the great crowd of cheering fans because it provided more wholesome entertainment than anything they've enjoyed for a long while. The final of two sessions was staged Monday evening in the gymnasium with every seat filled, and a scythe needed to cut a breathing space through the smoke.

Winners were:
Team trophy, Jackson-twp school;

Heavyweight, Doc Ferguson; Middleweight, Don Brannon; Lightweight, Dick Williamson; Featherweight, Sherman Denny; Flyweight, Jimmy Seimer.

Ferguson Unmatched

Monday evening's card was disappointing in that no heavyweight could be found to take on Doc Ferguson, pride of the C. A. C. To round out the card, Bob Terhune, Jackson-twp coach and former heavyweight champion at Ohio State university, boxed three exhibition rounds with the big fellow. It was entertaining with both boys tapping each other and putting on a good show.

The other disappointment to many was that the boxing commission ruled Ned Thatcher, Jackson-twp, could not fight Don Brannon, fearing he was overmatched. Many looked forward to this scrap. Egbert Hanson, Williamsport's courageous basketball star, who properly discarded his first label for the monicker "Hank," went into the ring with Brannon for three rounds, and came out with a bruised eye, and a lot of experience.

Hanson must be given credit for trying, because he did, but Brannon after the first round pulled his punches and carried the Deer-creek-twp boy along. A lot of credit is due Brannon for his sportsmanship, and the crowd was pleased. Brannon weighed 156; Hanson 162.

Boys Give All

The evening's curtain-raiser brought together two clean-cut kids from Jackson-twp, Jimmy Seimer and Bob Alexander at 101 and 100 1/2 pounds.

Seimer started the blood running from Alexander's nose in the second round, and won handily. Both boys gave all they had, trying from the first to the last bell. It was too bad both couldn't have won but Seimer had a little more sting in his punch.

Paul Beck, 126 pounds, was too tall, too heavy, and too experienced for scrappy Shirley Hulse, 118, of Jackson-twp, winning the decision. Had both boys been the same size it is almost a safe wager Hulse would have taken Beck. Both youths had large followings who cheered them through the

About This And That In Many Sports

Even Cows Fighting

They say that out in Jackson-twp Bob Terhune has everyone fighting, even the cows—We wonder how long Wayne Hoover fought that 20-inch water dog before he finally landed him. The water dog is attracting a lot of attention in the window of the Fickardt store.

Softball Players!

Any of you fellows interested in playing softball this summer?—The Eagles lodge is going to have a team in a local league, if there is one, and it will be represented also in a state league. You must be an Eagle—There'll be a meeting Wednesday evening when plans will be discussed.

50 Boys Answer Call

Jack Landrum called a spring football drill for Monday evening, then postponed it until Tuesday. There were nearly 50 youths of all shapes and sizes on hand waiting for the first whistle.

Ashville Wins 22

We just learned something—Ashville's basketball team won 22 consecutive basketball games before losing to Millersport. The highest score tallied by the Kauber-men during the year was 49 in the opening game of the season against Washington-twp, and the lowest was 19 scored against the Circleville Tigers; Circleville was held to 15 in that game.

Pomeroy is Drawn

Chillicothe got a nasty break in the southeast district tournament at Athens—Pomeroy, rated best team in the district, is the Chillicothe foe at 10 a. m. Wednesday—Greenfield, Gallipolis, Wellston, Ironton and Logan are other teams in the bracket with Chillicothe and Pomeroy—Should the Young-men bump the river town crew they might sail through the tourney—Pomeroy, home of Tippy Dye, was undefeated in the Southeastern Ohio league which embraces such teams as Middleport, Athens, Gallipolis, Jackson.

three rounds. The decision in favor of Beck was popular.

Dick Williamson, 142-pounder from Fox, pulled the evening's upset by outgunning and outspeeding veteran Al VanFossen for the welterweight crown.

Williamson, carried the battle to Van Fossen a large part of the way and had the local youth, who flashed a strong left at times, weakening as the match ended. It was clearly Williamson's fight.

Lutz Versus Hill
The fight that brought fireworks the whole way round Warren Lutz, 129-pound bowling alley favorite, tangling with Spike Hill, 136-pound Williamsport pug, for four rounds.

Lutz started like a house afire and easily took the first two rounds, although Hill landed a few counters on his own account. In the third session both boys looked tired, and Hill knocked off the fourth fray.

The judges' decision went to Hill, much to the objection of a large part of the crowd. Lundy Ferguson, who refereed, was reluctant to hold up Hill's hand.

The fight might easily have been called a draw and both boys would have received justice. However, the judges, Harry Carter and Wendell Boyer, believed Hill had an edge, so that was that.

The fight was a good one. Bob Terhune refereed the Seimer-Alexander; Beck-Hulse, and Williamson-VanFossen matches, while Willie the Kid Leist was third man in the Ferguson-Terhune exhibition, and Lundy Ferguson handled the remainder.

Medals and the trophy were presented by Joe M. Lynch, president of the Athletic Club.

Credit is Due

A lot of the credit for the successful amateur tournament goes to Earl Hussey, C. A. C. promoter, Johnny Heiskell, and Bob Terhune.

There will undoubtedly be additional cards from time to time under the sponsorship of the Athletic Club.

WAR ONLY CAN STOP OLYMPICS, SAYS LEWALD

BERLIN, March 10.—(UP)—The fate of the 1936 Olympic games hangs on international decisions in the vastly more important field of politics.

Germany is continuing all her preparations for the international athletic carnival and will continue to do so, even though reports from Geneva today told of the possibility that France, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Yugoslavia might refuse to participate.

Their refusal, predicted as a result of the agitation for sanctions against Germany, would cripple the games but only war will stop them entirely.

Dr. Theodore Lewald, president of the Olympics organizing committee, made that plain.

"War is the only thing that can prevent the coming Olympics," Dr. Lewald said. "Sanctions as such could not do so, for the Olympics are neither an economic or political football."

Moscow has a theater in which the actors are all deaf-mutes.

COUNTY TRACK, FIELD SCHEDULE CHANGES AIDED

Superintendents Eliminate Four Events for Safety to Crowd, Athletes

Those eliminated are the mile track and field rules of the Ohio High School association, governing districts meets, have been eliminated from the Pickaway-co schools and in the county meet to be held May 1 at Pickaway-twp, it was announced Tuesday.

Four events included in the run, 120 yard high hurdles, discus and javelin throw. County superintendents are of the opinion there is an element of danger in these events. They believe the throws endanger the large crowds that attend the meets and the high hurdles and long run might be injuries to the athletes.

Many Are Approved

Events approved are: 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, half-mile run, 220-yard low hurdles, one-half and mile relays, running broad and high jumps, shot put and pole vault.

Scoring will be in conformity with the state setup as follows: first, six points; second, four points; third, three points; fourth, two points, and fifth, one point.

The 60-yard dash and standing broad and high jumps have no place in the events and indications they are obsolete in the high school boys events.

Girls' Events Same

No change has been made in the events for girls. The county track meet includes the following: 40 and 60 yard dashes; 220 yard relay (four girls); tennis tournament by doubles, volley ball tournament, baseball throw for accuracy and distance.

FIELD TRIAL MEN MAKE PLANS FOR EVENT APRIL 4-5

Field officials for the spring trials of the Pickaway-co Bird Dog club to be held at Kinderhook April 4 and 5, were named Monday night at a club meeting held in the Leach Motor Co.

Glenn Parsons, Lancaster, is field marshal and the courses will be laid out by a committee comprised of Byron Eby, Charles Carter and Ralph Wallace. George Hunter, Newark, will be starter and the birds will be released by Sam Scott, Walter Richards and Clarence Francis, conservation officer. The horses will be in charge of Charles Carter and John Street.

Don Waters and Ollie Meimeyer, who have previously served here as judges, have been asked to serve this year.

Arrangements have been made to start the trials exactly at 7 a. m.

MICHIGAN IS FAVORED TO WIN BIG TEN TITLE

CHICAGO, March 10.—(UP)—Michigan's champions were classed today with Wisconsin and Indiana as favorites in the 26th annual Big Ten indoor track meet scheduled here Friday and Saturday nights.

Wisconsin and Indiana, consistent point winners during the indoor season, have the individual stars to challenge Michigan's team strength.

Where the wolves rely on balance for points in every event, Indiana, with Don Lash and Marquette Hobbs, is exceptionally strong in the distance events. Wisconsin has sure point winners in the pole vault.

Three conference records—high jump, shotput and 440-yard dash—may be shattered. Existing marks in these events have been bettered in competition this season. Ray Ellinwood of Chicago has topped the 440 record, Al Britton of Ohio State is seeking a new high jump mark and Freimuth, Minnesota weight star, may break the shot record if pressed.

The meet will be held at the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

MUNGO TO SIGN

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 10.—(UP)—Van Mungo, Brooklyn pitching ace, was expected to sign his contract today after showing up unexpectedly in camp last night. It is believed that Mungo will get the $12,000 salary he demands.

Wins Mat Crown

CHIEF claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling crown is Dick Shikat of Philadelphia, who won a surprise victory over the generally recognized mat champion, Danno O'Mahoney in Boston. Shikat is a former champion.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Brilliantly decorative and strikingly original background settings have become a tradition of RKO Radio's musical pictures co-starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

For "The Gay Divorcee," for example, there was the vast "Continental" setting, "Roberta" had its glittering courtyard background where the fashion parade was held, and "Top Hat" introduced the Lido setting, scene of the "Piccolino" dance.

"Follow the Fleet" is said to offer several settings to carry on this particular Astaire-Rogers tradition. There's a huge battleship set, an amazingly accurate copy of the U.S.S. Pennsylvania's quarterdeck. There are also a formal Grecian garden, adorned by thousands of flowers and scrubs, a garish waterfront dance hall to provide striking contrast, and a novel ship setting transformed into a brilliantly lighted outdoor theatre.

AT THE GRAND

"Here's to Romance," the music filled Fox picture which comes Wednesday to the Grand theatre, marks the screen debut of three people who have already won laurels in other fields. It stars Nino Martin, nationally known radio and operatic star, and a loved concert star, and a famous ballerina, are the others who make their initial appearance before the camera.

SCHOOL BOARDS RECEIVE $13,306 FROM STATE'S FUNDS

COUNTY'S SHARE $10,466.17; CITY OBTAINS $2,840

Certificates Sent By Department of Education Amount to $43,042

Pickaway-co school boards received $13,306 in cash and certificates on which they are authorized to borrow $43,042. Tuesday, under the first quarterly payment from the state public school fund as required by the school foundation program law.

Warrants received by George McDowell, superintendent of county schools, amounted to $10,466.17, and the certificates $33,579.83. Circleville schools received $2,840 in cash and $9,200 in certificates. Clarence Barnhart, clerk of the board, announced.

Must Pay Interest
In this first payment about 23 percent is in the form of cash warrants and the balance in the form of certificates. The law provides that the board of education shall, when funds are available, appropriate an amount sufficient to retire the note. The board of education must take care of the interest and pay the note when due. It was recently announced the State Teachers' Retirement system is interested in purchasing these notes.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack; but he that hideth his eyes shall have many a curse.—Proverbs 28:27.

Gordon Dunkle, assistant manager of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. store, W. Main-st., has been transferred to the Washington C. H. store. He assumed his new duties Monday.

Miss Harriett, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Curtis Shields of London, well-known here, died Sunday evening of pneumonia.

Russell Cunningham of Lancaster has been eliminated as a possible candidate for congress by taking out a petition for the Ohio general assembly.

Alva Heeter, Williamsport, underwent an emergency operation in Berger hospital Monday afternoon.

A son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Happeny, S. Scioto-st.

Mrs. A. W. Holman, S. Court-st., moved her household furnishings to Urbana, Monday where she and Dr. Holman will make their home. Dr. Holman is slowly improving from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Ted Lewis is here for a short visit with Mr. Lewis' mother, Mrs. B. Friedman, E. Mount-st.

KINGSTON

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of John Warren with Mrs. Lorena Bookwalter, Mrs. Dorothy Kreider, Mrs. Mollie Elder, Mrs. Elizabeth Triplitt, Mrs. Harriet Roby, Mrs. Louise Dumm and Mrs. Pyle hostesses.

Special meetings will begin on Sunday night March 8 at 7:30 o'clock and will continue through the next two weeks on all nights except Saturday. The speaker for the first week will be Rev. W. W. Weiser of McArthur, who was the delegate in 1932 to the general conference held at Atlantic City for the Ohio Conference. For the second week Dr. G. H. Weaver will be the guest preacher who was formally head of the Ross County Greater Parish. Dr. Weaver was guest preacher last year during special meetings.

CUTTEN INDICTED IN TAX INQUIRY

Grain Trader to Face Charges in U. S. Court

CHICAGO, March 10.—(UP)—Arthur W. Cutten, millionaire grain trader, was indicted in federal court today on a charge of evading payment of $414,000 in income taxes for 1929.

Cutten claimed a loss in his returns that year, but is charged by the government with having an income for tax purposes of $3,109,497.

A federal grand jury had been investigating charges against Cutten for a week.

Cutten, a spectacular grain pit operator, was not in court when the indictment was returned. Recovering from a pneumonia attack last Christmas day, he arose to receive friends and suffered a heart attack.

He has been ill at his apartment since.

Charges against him reportedly were the result of a year's investigation by treasury agents.

TRIAL NEARS END

DORCHESTER, N. B., March 10.—(UP)—Attorneys for Arthur Bannister, 19-year-old backwoods youth, said today no evidence would be presented in his behalf against the crown charges that he committed three murders and a kidnapping.

"PERILOUS" BINGHAM

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The European crisis was described as "perilous but not likely to lead to immediate war" by Robert W. Bingham, ambassador to Great Britain, following a conference today with high state department officials.

HELVERING'S TEAM WINS KIWANIS CLUB CONTEST

The Michigan team, captained by Clarence Helvering, won the Kiwanis club attendance contest Monday evening by the toss of a coin from Fred Tipton's Minnesota team.

Members of the winning team were Mr. Helvering, Elmer Clifton, Joe Burns, Gerald Hanley, and L. M. Mader.

Both teams finished the 9-weeks' contest with perfect attendance at each meeting.

There were 10 teams in the contest. The Michigan team will be the guest of honor in two weeks when the five losing teams pay for a steak dinner. Judge Dana Reynolds of Columbus, lieutenant-governor of the district, will make his official visit at that time.

The second, third, fourth and fifth place teams must serve the steaks.

A "Mystery" program has been announced for next Monday evening.

32 HURT IN MIAMI, WARNING POSTED

leased from an exhibit when the storm coursed up the fairgrounds' midway. Many of them were said to be of poisonous species. A police guard was set up about the area.

The disturbance struck Miami at 7:25 p. m., and followed heavy rains that drenched southern Florida as a gulf storm moved northeastward across the central portion of the state. The high wind at Miami, Gordon E. Dunn, U. S. weather bureau meteorologist of Jacksonville said, was a local condition.

The storm passed into the Atlantic, Dunn reported, and may be expected to increase in intensity. Strong gales may be expected between the south Atlantic coast and Bermuda, he said.

Miami's southwest and northwest sections were the only ones known to have suffered from the tornado. Many persons in other parts of the city were unaware for hours that a storm had struck.

100 VIGILANTES WATCH TRAFFIC TO HELP POLICE

COLUMBUS, March 10.—(UP)—A skeleton police force was no bar to rigid enforcement of traffic laws here today.

A committee of 100 traffic vigilantes, pledged to see that driving laws are observed and enforced, went to work quietly today. Their names were kept secret and each member was given a number.

Enforcement of traffic laws had been lax since half of the police force was dismissed two weeks ago because of lack of funds. A three-mill levy which would have kept police, fire and service departments at full strength was defeated by voters.

Pledge cards signed by the vigilantes promised their co-operation in reporting flagrant violations and their willingness to appear as witnesses in court, if necessary. They will report license numbers of offenders to the safety director. Police will warn first offenders by mail. Persistent violators will be brought into court.

The vigilante plan was sponsored by the Columbus Automobile club and backed by business organizations.
